

to five hundred yards, then three hundred yards and ending at two hundred yards. These shots are taken in the three shooting positions: prone, sitting and standing. Each member of the team fires sixty-four total rounds with just fifty seconds to get into each position and fire. The best competitors can fire a shot a second and hit the target.

Madam Speaker, I rise today to commend the California Grizzlies Junior Rifle Team upon their 2009 victory. I invite my colleagues to join me in wishing the team many years of continued success.

HONORING BILLY "SINGLE"
CLIFFORD

HON. JIM JORDAN

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 22, 2010

Mr. JORDAN of Ohio. Madam Speaker, I am honored to commend to the House the work of the Champaign County Bicentennial Historical Marker Committee to promote the career and contributions of Urbana native and vaudeville legend Billy "Single" Clifford.

Born Clyde Shyrigh, Clifford was born in 1869 in Urbana, Ohio, to Levi and Sarah Shyrigh. His love of music was evident from his early childhood, when he would stage performances in the family barn. Clifford began appearing with a traveling circus at age 10, where he further developed his singing and dancing skills. This led him ultimately to a successful vaudeville career, with performances along the East Coast and throughout Europe.

Clifford built the Clifford Theater in 1905 on the site where his family's barn had stood. The theater was the first of its kind in Urbana, with an 80-foot stage and a seating capacity of 700. In addition to performances by a vaudeville troupe formed by Clifford, it hosted many notable entertainers through the years—including the March King, John Philip Sousa.

On July 24, the Champaign County Bicentennial Historical Marker Committee and the family and friends of Charles L. Mott will dedicate a marker celebrating Clifford and the Clifford Theater. I am honored to join them and the people of Champaign County in commemorating this event.

IN RECOGNITION OF THE 70TH AN-NIVERSARY OF AMERICAN LE-
GION POST 374

HON. GARY C. PETERS

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 22, 2010

Mr. PETERS. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize American Legion Post 374, in Berkley Michigan on the occasion of its 70th Anniversary of service to the Veterans of our community. As a Member of Congress it is both my privilege and honor to recognize the men and women of this post for their years of service and contributions which have enriched and strengthened our community.

The Berkley American Legion Post 374 has been a cornerstone of the Berkley community for the last 70 years.

Post 374 owes its provenance to a collaboration between the Berkley American Legion, the Berkley Odd Fellows and local vets with a vision. Working together, drawing on each strengths and needs and with a lot of heart, Post 374 was established on July 27, 1940.

Since then, Post 374 has been a welcome doorstep for veterans recently returning as well as those whose years of active duty were long past. The Post is truly an institution in Berkley. Its members have built an institution suffused with friendship, camaraderie and service. It engages young people through scholarship and other programs. It helps veterans who have fallen on hard times get the services and support they deserve. Each year, on Memorial Day, the Post places American flags on the gravesites of roughly 3000 veterans laid to rest in a local cemetery. The Post has been the site of countless fish fries, steak fries, special birthdays and weddings. It is a place where the community gathers and it is much beloved.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me today to honor the Berkley American Legion Post 374 on its 70th Anniversary and salute its many active members in their service to our veterans and community.

HONORING THE HISTORY AND SERVICE OF THE URSULINE SIS-TERS OF LOUISVILLE

HON. JOHN A. YARMUTH

OF KENTUCKY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 22, 2010

Mr. YARMUTH. Madam Speaker, I rise in recognition of a group of remarkable women who have played a vital role in strengthening communities across Kentucky, throughout the nation, and around the globe for more than 150 years. Since 1858, the reach of the Ursuline Sisters of Louisville has grown from a school on the corner of Chestnut and Shelby Streets in downtown Louisville to a mission that touches the lives of thousands of women, men, and children across the nation and across the globe. And on July 25, the Sisters will have their distinguished history and continued service officially recognized by the Commonwealth of Kentucky when a marker is placed at the site where their mission began so many years ago. Today, I am honored to join the chorus of voices praising the Ursuline Sisters of Louisville for their decades of contributions to better the world through their teachings and actions.

The story of the Ursuline Sisters in Louisville began when three sisters from Germany arrived 152 years ago to pursue a tradition of faith and service, answering the call meet the needs of the community's children. In the spirit of their founder—St. Angela Merici—they sought to serve with an openness and eagerness to meet the needs of others. Compelled by faith and principle and driven by hard work, the Ursuline Sisters soon made that mission a reality, each and every day of the last 152 years.

Within weeks of their arrival, the Sisters were teaching dozens of children. Under their leadership, construction on a new convent and school—Ursuline Academy—was completed the following year. Their successful efforts soon expanded exponentially. In less than 25 years, more than 100 sisters were teaching in 20 Ursuline schools.

Today, the Ursuline Sisters of Louisville have grown to serve a community of faith in eight states and Peru.

The Ursuline Sisters do not just offer a quality education or health care—they provide invaluable guidance and assistance to those who need it most. Throughout their history, the Sisters have worked on behalf of the underserved and the disenfranchised, seeking to empower every life they touch. Today, the schools they have established and operate, the students they have taught, and the people they have served stand as a living legacy to their mission to create stronger communities and a stronger world.

By placing a historical marker at the place where this powerful mission began, the legacy of the Ursuline Sisters will remind and educate our community about the impact of service. The Ursuline Sisters of Louisville don't just change with the world—they help shape it through knowledge, compassion, and a self-less commitment to service.

Therefore, I ask my colleagues to join me today in further recognizing the extraordinary work and dedication of the Ursuline Sisters of Louisville.

VIRIDIANA ROBLES

HON. ED PERLMUTTER

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 22, 2010

Mr. PERLMUTTER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize and applaud Viridiana Robles who has received the Arvada Wheat Ridge Service Ambassadors for Youth award. Viridiana Robles is a 12th grader at Jefferson High School and received this award because her determination and hard work have allowed her to overcome adversities.

The dedication demonstrated by Viridiana Robles is exemplary of the type of achievement that can be attained with hard work and perseverance. It is essential students at all levels strive to make the most of their education and develop a work ethic which will guide them for the rest of their lives.

I extend my deepest congratulations once again to Viridiana Robles for winning the Arvada Wheat Ridge Service Ambassadors for Youth award. I have no doubt she will exhibit the same dedication and character to all her future accomplishments.

A TRIBUTE TO THE HONORABLE
SETH HAMMETT, RETIRING
SPEAKER OF THE ALABAMA
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

HON. JO BONNER

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, July 22, 2010

Mr. BONNER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the remarkable service of a true public servant from my home State of Alabama. A native of Andalusia, Seth Hammett is retiring this year as Speaker of the Alabama House of Representatives and Representative for the 92nd House District serving Covington and Escambia counties.

Speaker Hammett, a pilot in the United States Air Force and founder and president of